EXPERIENCE

SELF-LEARNING

september - 2022

During my self-learning journey, I worked on various projects, honing my skills in C and Java. Later, I delved into website designing, crafting small and large websites for clients. Driven by this experience, I chose to join a full-stack development self-training program to further enhance my expertise in real-world IT environments.

BROTOTYPE

Januvary - 2023 and currently working on my 2nd MERN project

Passionate about web development, I joined Brototype's self-learning program. Weekly tasks with deadlines and interviews with experienced developers sharpen my work ethics, problem-solving, and self-learning capabilities. I completed an e-commerce website within the deadline and now working on my 2nd MERN Stack project to enhance my skills further.
